Visit Daytona Races

An exciting week for three Appomattox visitors to Daytona Beach. (From left); Gene Paulette, Danny Hackett and F. D. O'Brien stand beside the Winston, No. 1 car, a $25,000 racing car, just before the start of Sunday's Daytona 500. The race was won by Al Foyt at a record speed 161.550 mph. They were there for Thursday's ill-fated Daytona 125 which saw the tragic death of Raymond Hassler. They visited Walt Disney World too, at Orlando along with 45,000 other people. Officials at Daytona and Walt Disney World were very helpful, says F. D. O'Brien. By the way, no motor company or anyone subsidized their trip, contrary to reports.

Eugene W. Peyton (far left), director of instruction for Appomattox county, was program leader for an all-day meeting Friday of supervisors, members of the Appomattox Regional Supervisory Association, Twenty-five Association members were here to see the county's vocational program offerings and the continuous progress and "open space" classroom innovations in use in county schools including (above), Pamplin Elementary School. Here Mr. Peyton and officers, Mrs. Lois Miller, secretary-treasurer, Al Echols, president and Elmo Vogt, program chairman, look over the work of Pamplin pupils in the converted auditorium which serves as multi-purpose, multi-interest learning area for first graders. Mrs. Barbara Waddell (not shown) is principal.

Supervisors Tour Schools

Officers and members of the Appomattox Regional Supervisory Association met in Appomattox Friday to see many of the county's educational programs.

Director of instruction for Appomattox, Eugene W. Peyton, was program chairman for the day's tour which included a look at the vocational program of the county and the continuous progress program at Appomattox Primary and Appomattox Intermediate Schools. The visiting group, twenty-five supervisors in all, also discussed with Appomattox County high school faculty a just-completed self evaluation of the high school and proposed changes in curriculum. Just before a luncheon break, they visited the "open space" classroom instructional program at Pamplin Elementary School.

The Regional Supervisory Association covers the counties of Appomattox, Buckingham, Bedford, Amherst, Campbell, Charlotte, Halifax and Pittsylvania counties plus the cities of Danville, Lynchburg and South Boston.

Mr. Al Echols, of Lynchburg, president of the association, said at the conclusion of the tour that school superintendent Earl J. Smith and his staff "are doing here at Appomattox what we're still just talking about." He and the other officers of the association, Elmo Vogt, program chairman of the group and a supervisor in Campbell county; and Mrs. Lois Miller, of Chatham, secretary-treasurer of the association, who is elementary supervisor for Pittsylvania county, were high in their praise of the forward looking programs in effect in Appomattox.

Transco Seeks Fuel Facilities

Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation has requested the Office of Emergency Preparedness in Washington to take action relative to feedstock importation which will allow it to proceed with plans for facilities to provide up to one billion cubic feet of pipeline quality gas daily by 1977.

The planned facilities are required by Transco to meet the deficiency between current sales commitments and the natural gas supply expected to be available by the time that the new facilities can become operable. At present, its pipeline and storage system has allocated capacity of 3 billion cubic feet per day and winter peakday capacity of 4.4 billion cubic feet.

Transco has a three- phase program which would include facilities for 250 million cubic feet of gas per day from naphtha gasification, about 460 million cubic feet of gas per day from crude oil gasification, and up to 300 million cubic feet of gas per day.

Transco says it can deliver gas from a naphtha plant by early 1974 if prompt approval by all authorities is granted.

The company would expect to start up oil-gasification facilities by the last quarter of 1975, assuming no undue delays. Deliveries of LNG are anticipated in 1976 or 1977.

The company points out 1) the improvement of the environment which would result from the additional supply of gas to consuming areas, and 2) that the planned facilities will be designed to comply with applicable safety and environmental requirements and therefore would have no substantial effect on the environment.

The facilities, to be built and operated by the Company's wholly owned subsidiary, Transco Energy Company, are estimated to cost nearly a half billion dollars.

Transco owns and operates an interstate pipeline system for the purchase, sale, and transportation of natural gas. Its main pipeline system extends from the Texas and Louisiana Gulf Coast through the Piedmont area to the New York-New Jersey - Philadelphia metropolitan areas.
